

October 7, 2005

MEDIA ADVISORY

The New Brunswick Public Libraries Foundation will be launching its 2005 fall fundraising campaign at Fredericton Public Library on October 18th 2005 at 10:45AM.

Those scheduled to attend the launch include the Lieutenant Governor of New Brunswick, the Hon. Herménégilde Chiasson, the Minister of Education, the Hon. Madeleine Dubé and the mayor of Fredericton, His Worship Brad Woodside. This year's fundraising campaign is being co-chaired by the New York Times Bestselling co-author of Walter the Farting Dog, Glenn Murray, and Marguerite Maillet, well known Acadian author and founder of the publishing house Bouton d'or Acadie.

The objective of the fundraising campaign is to generate support from New Brunswickers to increase the number of books and other materials in public libraries and bookmobiles in New Brunswick.

The New Brunswick Public Libraries Foundation is a charitable organization that raises funds in support of New Brunswick's public library system. The activities of the foundation are overseen by a board of trustees who are responsible for the management of all assets. For further information please visit www.librariesfoundation.ca or call 1-866-453-3442

MEDIA CONTACTS: Shawn Stevenson, Acting Executive Director, NB Public Libraries Foundation, 506-453-3442; Jason Humphrey or Hugues Beaulieu, Communications, Education, 506-444-4714.